1. LPLUS: Last restrictions on examinations overcome

Earlier than announced in the previous newsletter, the ZIM department has worked out a solution that makes the examination software LPLUS available again with (almost) all functionalities. Examinations can now take place both in the ZIM rooms and again in @home mode. Lecturers can once again create questionnaires, re-evaluate submitted examinations and report to the examinations office as usual. The only remaining restriction is that additional course specific software cannot be integrated. This affects exactly one of the examinations planned with LPLUS.
